

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An unwanted deposited film is removed from the surface of a photomask in which a desired pattern has been formed. Then, a resist film is exposed to extreme ultraviolet radiation through the photomask, from which the deposited film has 5 been removed, thereby transferring the desired pattern onto the resist film.